LA REGOLA TOSCANA STRIDO 2012

Quite an oaky and full-bodied merlot with some soy-sauce and chocolate character, but there is not enough freshness to carry the opulence. Already fully mature. Drink now.

LA REGOLA TOSCANA 2013

Although it may not be terribly complex, this is a very nice cabernet franc with a bright violet character and a hint of leafy freshness. There's a well-proportioned body in which fruit, tannins and alcohol all fit very neatly together. Drink now or in 2019 and 2020.

LA REGOLA TOSCANA VALLINO 2014

For a 2014 this has some depth and earthy notes, as well as black cherries and discreetly dry tannins. The finish is rather supple. Drink now. Made from cabernet sauvignon.

LA REGOLA COSTA TOSCANA 2014

Although this has some good cherry and blackberry character, its the savory, herbal and earthy notes that make it interesting. There are ample, dry tannins, which are what is needed to carry the full body and generous alcohol. Long, supple finish. Cabernet franc.

LA REGOLA COSTA TOSCANA 2015

I love the violet and ripe-cassis bouquet of this rich and plush red that still manages to have a light and elegant touch at the long finish. Cabernet franc. Drink or hold.

LA REGOLA COSTA TOSCANA STRIDO 2015

In spite of all the ripeness, this is a quite lean and slightly austere red that could do with a bit more fruit at the finish. Drink now.

LA REGOLA COSTA TOSCANA VALLINO 2015

This is a seriously tannic and rather sleek red with nice richness wrapping around the tannins at the moderately long finish. Cabernet sauvignon. Drink now.
